

MICHIGAN STATE FAIR.

Reception of President Hayes at Detroit.

Reception Speeches on the Steamer—An Oration on Reaching the City—The President Delivers His Address—Speech by General Sherman—Senator Chandler Introduces Mrs. Hayes—A Short Sail.

President Hayes at the Detroit Fair. DETROIT, Sept. 18.—In accordance with the programme previously announced, the citizens committee proceeded down the river to Cross Lake on the steamer Victoria, early this morning, at which place the steamer Northwest from Cleveland with the President's party on board was met and boarded by the committee, and after introductions were over Mayor Langdon welcomed the party in an appropriate address, which was responded to by the President in substance as follows:

I am glad to have an opportunity to visit Detroit and Michigan, and I am further glad to learn that this city and State are so much interested in the progress of the fair and the business of the State. The property and business of the State are in the hands of the people, and it is the duty of the government and its officers, and its officers cannot help but be interested in the progress of the fair and the business of the State. I am glad to have an opportunity to visit Detroit and Michigan, and I am further glad to learn that this city and State are so much interested in the progress of the fair and the business of the State.

General Sherman then advanced, and in substance said:

Mr. Mayor and Gentlemen of the Reception Committee: Thanking you for the honor you have conferred upon me by mentioning my name in connection with this fair, I am glad to have an opportunity to visit Detroit and Michigan, and I am further glad to learn that this city and State are so much interested in the progress of the fair and the business of the State.

When reaching the city the Northwest was met by the United States revenue cutter Fescenden and escorted to the landing, where several thousand persons were assembled, who warmly cheered the Presidential party. On arrival, while the party were disembarking, the Fescenden fired a salute of twenty-one guns. The party were then escorted to the hotel, where they were met by the President and Mrs. Hayes and General Sherman, who were accompanied by the Mayor and other officials of the fair.

At 11 o'clock the procession, headed by the bands of the State militia and other soldiers, was formed and proceeded to the State Fair grounds, and was received by William L. Webb, president of the State Agricultural Society. The party drove leisurely about the fair grounds, after completing their visit the President was driven to the State Fair grounds, and was received by William L. Webb, president of the State Agricultural Society.

The General concluded his remarks by referring in complimentary terms to the grand agricultural exhibition before him. Senator Chandler being introduced, was received with cheers, and said:

FELLOW CITIZENS: I did not come here to make a speech, but to see the fair and to see the people. I am glad to have an opportunity to visit Detroit and Michigan, and I am further glad to learn that this city and State are so much interested in the progress of the fair and the business of the State.

Upon rising Mrs. Hayes was received with rapturous applause, and bowed her acknowledgments. The ceremonies having been concluded, at 1230 the procession was reformed and the President returned to the city for lunch, after which the party embarked on Congressman Newberry's steam-yacht "Truant" for a pleasure trip up the river.

Shortly after 2 o'clock the Presidential party left Governor Baldwin's residence and proceeded to the city. The party was met by the Mayor and other officials of the fair, and was escorted to the hotel, where they were met by the President and Mrs. Hayes and General Sherman, who were accompanied by the Mayor and other officials of the fair.

THE ODD-FELLOWS.

Fourth Day's Session of the Grand Lodge.

Special Committees Appointed—Reports of Standing Committees—Action in Relation to Suspended Members—Important Modification of the Laws—Amendments to the Constitution.

Sovereign Grand Lodge, I. O. O. F. BALTIMORE, Sept. 18.—The Grand Lodge, I. O. O. F., met at 9 o'clock, John B. Harmon, Grand Sire, in the chair. The following special committees were announced: On Past Grand Sires—Representatives Hedges (Ohio), Courtney (Virginia), Blackford (Texas), Myers (Indiana), Randall (California), On Past Grand Sires—Representatives Lindley (Wisconsin), Underwood (Kentucky), Woodruff (Ontario), Sheppard (Pennsylvania), and Hessel (Nebraska). On the Appeal from Chilli—Representatives Miller (New Jersey), Block (Iowa), Rengstorff (Louisiana), Blank (Georgia), and Lehman (Mississippi). [Note.—This is an appeal of the late Grand Secretary of the order in Chilli from the action of the Grand Lodge in expelling him from the order for appropriating funds of the lodge. He was expelled without trial, on a simple resolution, unanimously passed by the Grand Lodge of Chilli. The ruling of Grand Sire Harmon on the appeal, and he so advised the Grand Master in Chilli, was that the lodge had no power to expel from the order; that the only course was to expel from its own body and direct the subordinate of the Grand Sire to try him on charges, and he suggested that the Grand Lodge of Chilli, of its own accord, annul its vote of expulsion and take the property back to have it later re-expelled. This ruling and suggestion of the Grand Sire has not been carried into effect by the lodge in Chilli, and the point now is its enforcement.]

A resolution that Grand Encampments be empowered to issue charters for encampments of Uniformed Patriarchs was referred to the legislative committee.

Reports of committees were next considered. The report of the special committee on the Patriarchal branch of the order, which concludes with a resolution that Patriarchs who are or may become members of the order, shall be required to have a wife and children, and to be of good character and of good moral habits, was adopted.

BUTLER'S THIRD RALLY.

A Convention of Independents at Worcester.

W. M. Simmons Present as Manager—Butler Nominated for Governor—A Full Ticket Put Up—An Out-and-Out Labor Reform—An Open Letter to Butler Read—The Oration Roughly Hooted at.

Butlerism Under a New Name. WORCESTER, Mass., Sept. 18.—The delegates to the Butler Independent convention assembled in Mechanics' Hall this forenoon, and after a voluntary on the organ, "Yankee Doodle" and "Auld Lang Syne" forming a part thereof, the convention was called to order by Colonel R. G. Usher, who presented Stephen M. Allen as temporary chairman. As one of the vice-presidents of the first Republican convention, held twenty-five years ago, and a committee of one from each senatorial district was appointed to report a permanent organization. A committee on credentials was appointed. It was voted that all presidents of Butler clubs in the State be invited to take seats on the platform.

The committee on permanent organization reported for president Albert Palmer of Boston, and a list of vice-presidents and secretaries. Upon putting the question of the acceptance of the list, there were not more than half-a-dozen "ayes" in response. The convention received Mr. Palmer, the permanent chairman, with loud and long cheers. After the chairman had addressed the convention, the chairman invited Rev. A. H. Hunt to invoke Divine blessing. Mr. Palmer then addressed the convention.

The address of Mr. Palmer, which was mainly devoted to a eulogy of Butler as a candidate of the independent party, was warmly received. Mr. Simmons moved that a committee of one from each county and three at large be appointed to prepare and present a series of resolutions. Three cheers were given for the Hon. William A. Simmons and given with a will. The motion was adopted.

Mr. W. N. Nichols of Boston, then nominated George B. Butler as the independent candidate of the independent party. Mr. Nichols carried unanimously with cheers. A. C. Woodworth was nominated for Lieutenant-Governor, General M. F. Donahue for Secretary of State, David S. Williams for Treasurer, William J. Northend for Attorney-General and David J. King for Auditor.

At this point the committee on resolutions reported quite a lengthy series of resolutions, which were read.

Mr. Godfrey of Milford, said he had addressed an open letter to General Butler, which he read to the convention. This letter was a labor document of the most pronounced kind, and contained such extravagant statements as to bring down the cheers and derisive yells of the convention. The speaker was frequently interrupted, and advised to go home.

"Up you jaw," and similar slang, owing to its extreme length and unpopular sentiment.

At the conclusion of the several speeches three cheers were given, and the resolutions were unanimously adopted.

It was voted that in the event of any declaration of a candidate on the ticket the State Central committee be authorized to make a canvass for the independent party.

A vote of thanks was passed to the presiding officer, and after the delegates united in singing one stanza of "America," the convention dissolved, with three cheers for Butler.

The present Butler State Central committee is to hold office for the rest of the year.

THE BOSTON CATASTROPHE. BOSTON, Sept. 18.—The theory of the police respecting the origin of the Gold-street fire is that it was caused by the overturning of an explosion of a kerosene lamp used by Mrs. Gillespie. This woman was drunk last evening, and is said to have left the house and called for about the time the fire was discovered, and then to have come back into the house, where she was smothered. Another body was found this morning at the scene of the Gold-street fire—that of Rose Mayrhoth, aged sixteen years, the niece of George Mayrhoth. She was found in one of the upper rooms, and had died of suffocation. It is reported that three other bodies have since been found, making nine persons known to be killed.

Medical Examiner Drappell will hold an inquest on the bodies of the victims of the Gold-street fire, but the time is not yet settled. It was reported at the Sixth police station this morning that the bodies of three persons were found in the street.

It is now stated definitely that only five persons perished in the Gold-street fire.

THE CONGRESSIONAL RECORD INDEX. The Democratic index manuscript for the Congressional Record, which has been built upon the rolls of Major E. M. Porter and his associates in that branch of business, and which is now running under the auspices of certain camp-followers of the Democratic party in the city of Baltimore, does not seem to work very well. It is now within two weeks of the opening of the session of Congress, and the index is not prepared, and the contractors appear to be stalled in their work, for it is said that they have appealed to the Public Printer for succor, as they find themselves incapable of accomplishing the work assigned them. It is a notable fact that a similar affair happened in the Congressional Record is now wanted by Senators and Representatives in Congress, and by the political public for reference during the present campaign. They were entitled to have these volumes printed, bound and distributed to the public before this time, and yet there is no certain prospect now that the work will be done before the close of November has passed and the political campaign is under way. One of two things in this connection is evident—either this work has fallen into incompetent hands, or it is purposely delayed by the contractors, who are waiting for the close of the session of Congress to be suppressed until it is too late to use it in the pending canvass. The delay is most likely occasioned by the incompetency of the contractors, who are waiting for the close of the session of Congress to be suppressed until it is too late to use it in the pending canvass. The delay is most likely occasioned by the incompetency of the contractors, who are waiting for the close of the session of Congress to be suppressed until it is too late to use it in the pending canvass.

James Redpath Missing for Two Weeks. NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—James Redpath, well known throughout the country in connection with lecture and amusement bureaus, has been missing for two weeks. His friends are utterly in the dark as to his fate and fear that he has become insane, as he was suffering from violent pains in the head and from sleeplessness when last seen. During the summer Mr. Redpath organized a new system of entertainments, to be known as "Redpath's Eye-Nights." For the purpose of this enterprise he had entered into contract with the Criterion Company, the Rice-Surprise Party, Salisbury's Troubadours, the Berger family and the Little Circus Company, having also secured the services of the "Crystal Palace" and the "Tower of Babel." The managers of these companies are naturally anxious to hear from Mr. Redpath, and some of them have already cancelled their contracts with him in consequence of his absence. On Tuesday, September 2, Mr. Redpath returned from a trip over his circuit from New York to Buffalo. He was in extreme weak health, and complained constantly of severe pains in his head. On the following day he was excessively nervous and said he could not sleep. He told his wife that he thought he would go away for a day or two and try to get some rest. He walked about in the rain that day, and again complained of pains in the back of the head. On Wednesday night he could not get any sleep, and at 5 o'clock Thursday morning he was found sitting up in his room. He went to his office very early that morning, and after leaving some memoranda returned home for breakfast. This was the last seen of him by his friends, and the last heard from him was through a message to a lady with whom he boarded, saying he was going away for a few days and that his head ached so terribly. He took hardly anything in the way of clothing, and did not have over $50 in money on his person. These considerations, coupled with the fact that his business engagements have demanded his presence or attention every day since he disappeared, make his friends believe that he has lost his mind, and is wandering about somewhere, a mental and physical wreck.

Font Day Suspected. NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—Charles H. Cutting, a traveling agent for the firm of Hobbie & Harrier, hardware merchants, of 123 Milk street, Boston, has mysteriously disappeared. Mr. Harrier called the police headquarters here today in reference to the matter. Cutting left Boston on September 2 for New York. He had then $5,000 in his possession, most of which was his own. Mr. Harrier thinks Cutting has not with him today.

CREEDMOOR. Result of the Matches Yesterday. NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—The International Military team match resulted in a victory for the team from the State of New York, over the team of the Regulars, while the New Jersey team came in last. Each team was composed of twelve men, and each man fired seven shots at 200, 500 and 600 yards respectively, making the possible individual total of 105, or team total of 1,260 points. The scores at 200 yards were as follows:
